FOREWORD

Returning from the War in October, 1865, it was my good fortune to be invited on Saturday afternoons to the meetings of the "Le Cercle autour du Poêle" at the old book store of John Pennington & Son. Here was discussed the War of 1861-1865, and comparisons were made with other great Wars by Prof. George Allen, LL. D., U. of Pa., an acknowledged military student and critic of the War that maintained the Union and destroyed slavery, and in the presence of Dr. Samuel Lewis, Winthrop Sergeant, Wm. Russell West, Hon. Charles Sumner, Gen. Franz Sigel, Wm. Henry Rawle, Prof. Chas. J. Stillé, John Wm. Wallace and others.

The absence of Lincolniana in the Collection is due to the fact that Major William H. Lambert, a good soldier and my comrade, was gathering his incomparable library, and absence of books relating to the Navy to the fact that Assistant-Engineer Frederick Schober, U. S. N., was making his great collection upon this branch of the service.

The Books, Manuscripts, Pamphlets and Excerpts, are bound in cloth, morocco, and levant, and are examples of the "Art of Book Binding" by Pawson & Nicholson, and cover a period of fifty years.

Scurrilous books have been eliminated from the Catalogue.

I wish I could express the pleasure and my grateful thanks for my intercourse with all the soldiers who were interested in my Library, and to whom I am greatly indebted, but that is impossible, but I cannot refrain from referring to the Comte de Paris, with whom I labored in his great work "La Guerre Civile en Amérique;" Bvt. Major-General Rutherford B. Hayes, Major-General Winfield S. Hancock, Bvt. Lieut.-Colonel William Brooke Rawle, Colonel Charles C. Chesney, R. E., Hon. Samuel W. Pennypacker, Lieut.-Colonel Robert Nicholson Scott, U. S. A., and Mr. Joseph W. Kirkley.
